Male Belarus X Sick Reader

by Theblueberry16

Category: Hetalia - Axis Powers
Genre: Romance
Language: English
Characters: Belarus, Russia, Ukraine
Status: In-Progress
Published: 2016-04-06 04:16:04
Updated: 2016-04-06 04:16:04
Packaged: 2016-04-27 23:07:27
Rating: T
Chapters: 1
Words: 1,615
Publisher: www.fanfiction.net
Summary: You have a illness what will probably take your life and you live with a protective older brother who doesn't let you leave the house. What happens when you sneak out and get lost. You ask a stranger for help and he offers to walk you home. Why does this stranger feel so familiar? Is he a stranger at all, or have you meet him before?

Male Belarus X Sick Reader

Chapter 1-The Walk

Male!Belarus X Sick!Reader **

This is my first time writing a fan fiction, but I've wanted to for a long time so please give me some nice feed back.
>Everyone in this will be normal gender except for Belarus and Ukraine will both be males. (your disease is you get sick extremely easily and you get better really slowly. Also you will randomly pass out a lot. It happens mostly when your sad or upset. When you pass out you could be out for five minutes or a whole day. You could pass out up to six times a day, or not at all for a week. Also this is a made up disease, but there might be a real one like it I don't know.)

I don't own anything except for plot and there will be swearing! **

Chapter 1

You were about twelve when your disease got really bad, so you became home schooled. You and your older brother had moved quite a bit after your parents died three years ago, but you liked Belarus so you asked if you could say here, and his being the protective doting older brother he was would never say no to you. You have been living in Belarus for about two years now, and really liked it here.

It was about seven when you woke up, which was quite weird for you. You were always last up at night and last out of bed in the morning. You almost never wake up before ten. "I wonder if he's up yet?" You mumbled to yourself. You pet your cat, who was curled up in a ball on your stomach, as a warning that you would be getting up. After she got up you quietly made your way down the hall to your brothers door. You peaked into the crack in the door. He wasn't up yet, you has a little mental party in your head. You quietly went back to your room and got ready. You said bye to your cat and got your phone and coat. You went to the door and opened it quietly to go on a walk.

You see your brother wouldn't let you leave the house often because of your disease, and if he did he would always be with you. You know he was only trying to keep you safe, but he could at least let you go on a walk once in a while or let you go to normal school. You like to be outside, so you would often sneak out. it was always late at night though so you didn't really know what it was like around when it was light outside.

When you step out of the house the cold air hits your face. You feel a small smile find its way on your face, You always have loved the cold. You start your walk and notice this is the time other people your ago would we going to school. You wanted to see what a high school would be like so you decided to walk by some on your walk.

You soon notice you don't really know where any schools are, since you don't get out often. There were a group of some guys walking ahead of you and it looked like they all wear wearing school uniforms. "I'm going to stal- I mean flow them to there school." you quietly said to yourself. When you got to the school you just stopped and starred. it was huge! You started to slowly walk past the gates. 'I'm just going to take a quick look around the court yard then go home, I don't think I have much time left until brother wakes up.' you thought to yourself.

You noticed that most of the people you've seen so far have been males. You were starting to think it was a all boys school. Then you saw a group of five girls walking by. 'Yes! Its not a all boys school so I wont be that suspicious.' you though. You didn't know what happened to people who went to a school that they didn't attend, but your imagination would always run wild. You saw the group of guys you followed to school and one of them started to walk over to you. You silently started to freak out, 'what if he tries to talk to me? what would I say back? ' you had always been shy around new people because you weren't use to seeing anyone you didn't already know.

While you had your little freak out time you didn't notice he was already right in front of you. "Ð·Ð´Ñ€Ð°Ñ•Ñ,Ñƒ Ð¹Ñ,Ðµ(1), are you new here I don't think I've seen you around here before." he said in a heavy Ukrainian accent. He gave you a smile he said, "Let me introduce myself, my name is Dimitri." You were to stunned to say anything. He had kind of long hair that was so blond when he moved just right it looked white. He was wearing a green coat and had dark blue eyes, and looked very friendly.

As soon as you were about to say something back, someone said, "Dimitri we need to fin-" He cut himself off when he saw you, "Ð·Ð´Ñ€Ð°Ð²Ñ•Ñ,Ð²Ñƒ Ð¹Ñ,Ðµ (1)Ð¿Ð¾Ð´Ñ•Ð¾Ð»Ð½ÐµÑ‡Ð½Ð¸Ð°(2), I'm Dimitri's brother Ivan. Who are you?" He said in a Russian accent. He gave you a cute smile and you smiled back which seemed to shock him, but you didn't know why. He was taller then the first boy, who was still taller then you. He hard white hair and violet eyes. You noticed his scarf first though it was long and white, he also had on a long tan coat.

You realized you haven't answered him yet and said quietly, "Oh h-hi I'm (y/n)." Then you smiled a little out of embarrassment that you stuttered. Then you remembered that Dimitri asked a question before, you turned to him and said, "I'm not new, I'm just looking around."

"Oh, well I'm sorry but we have to go." Ivan said turning to Dimitri, "We need to go find Nikolai before the bell rings."

That reminded you, you were suppose to hurry before your brother woke up, "Its ok, but do you know what time it is?" You began to worry it was late and your brother would find out you left.

"Its almost eight-thirty" Dimitri said looking at his watch. 'FUCK! ITS LATER THEN I THOUGHT! I GOTTA GO' You, Ivan, and Dimitri said your goodbyes and you hurried to get home.

As soon as you got about a block away from the school you realized when you were following them to the school you tried so hard to not be suspicious that you don't know where you are. 'Great just great. I try to hurry home and I'm fucken' lost. 'I let out a sigh 'I need to find a way home before (b/n) finds out I'm gone and freaks. Well at least if he does he'll call me then I could ask him to get me...no I cant do that it will just give him another reason to not let me leave.'

While you were lost in thought you turned a corner and ran into someone's chest, "Oh I'm so sorry I wasn't looking where I was going." You said to the person. You looked up and noticed it was a guy and blushed a little from being careless. He wasn't as tall as Ivan and Dimitri, but it was still taller then you. He have violet eyes and platinum blond hair that went to his shoulders. He also was wearing a long black coat that looked like it had white fur in it. He just glared at you and held out a hand to help you out of the snow. "T-thanks" You stuttered. He gave a small nod and started to walk away then you remembered you were lost and thought you could ask him the right way to go You were never good at talking to people first "Um..." He looked stopped walking and looked at you. "Would you mid telling me the right way to go to get to (your address), I'm a little lost." You said while blushing and playing with the hem of your coat.

He looked like he was thinking about it then he mumbled more to himself, "I'm gong to be later anyway." Then he looked at you and said in a monotone voice, "I'll just take you, its easy to get lost around here." He started walking, grabbed your hand, and started to lead you the other way.

To be continued...?

1-hello
>2-sunflower
(got them from google translate so tell me if there wrong)

Thank you for reading it! I'm going to try to make these chapters long and update often. I know this is a little boring so far, but I promise it will get better. Please tell me how I did. Like I said I've been wanting to write a fan fiction for a long time but I've been nervous about it. I finally decided to do one and its on male Belarus because I love him. He's just so loveable and I don't think there is enough fan fiction about him. So feed back is welcome but please try to be nice about it. **

End
file.